

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT.

The temperance revival in Janesville under the auspices of the Red Ribbon advocates, is just now getting a healthy start, and with proper management, it will result in much good. The meetings held in the Congregational church are under the leadership of Dr. McCollister, and are quite largely attended. The interest so far taken in the movement is very flattering, and the signs of the times indicate that there will be a general upheaval in the community on the temperance question. Whatever influence is successfully used to stop drunkards from drinking, or moderate drinkers from tipping, will receive the applause of the best element in this city. At present there are scores in Janesville who are burdened with the appetite for drink. They can not, or do not withstand its power. It injures their business, brings misery and disgrace to their families, and in the face of these facts there seems to be no influence sufficiently strong to secure their reformation. If the Red Ribbon movement can accomplish any good in this direction, we wish it the most abundant success. Anything which will bring sunshine to darkened homes, and prosperity to unfortunate and oppressed families, should receive the united support of every honest man in the community. He who saves a man from a drunkard's grave and a wife from brutal treatment, want and misery, is a benefactor to mankind, and shall have his name written among the wise and the just.

During the past two years, a vast amount of good has been done in Janesville for the cause of temperance. The Temple of Honor which stands as a grand monument to the noble work, has achieved great results and more permanent good for temperance reform, in two years, than all other agencies combined for twenty years. It has made many men sober and industrious, homes cheerful and wives happy. We doubt if in the State of Wisconsin a more successful temperance movement was ever organized or carried out, than that under the honored name of the Crystal Temple of Honor. We cannot but trust that our Red Ribbon friends will be in a measure as successful. There is a fertile field here for temperance work. All who need to be sobered off are not in the Temple. There are scores who so far have not been reached. If Dr. McCollister and his supporters can apply the sickle and reap a fruitful harvest, they will be applauded. We hope he, and all others working in conjunction with him, will bear in mind one important thing—they come not to save women and children and church members—but the drinkers and the drunkards. These are the ones they are after—not the righteons. To gather a thousand of those who don't drink, who feel no need of any restraining influence, is to accomplish nothing. We trust Dr. McCollister will stand firm by his remark on Sunday night, that he did not want women and children to sign the pledge but those who drink. When drinking men are reclaimed, and drunkards sobered off the movement can be said to have "fought the fight," and accomplished its work.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS.

The tone of the Eastern papers indicate that there is a bright prospect for a revival of business in their part of Uncle Sam's heritage. Whether they have any substantial reasons for exercising this hope, is not for us to judge. There is no doubt that the outlook is improving, not only in the East but in the West. The prospect for good crops is excellent, and farmers feel quite encouraged. Our financial troubles are at an end so far as the relative value of our currencies is concerned. We are on the highway to specie payments. Gold is worth no more than our greenbacks, and silver is constantly adding to the wealth of the country. The N. Y. Herald of Sunday last takes a very hopeful view of business matters. If an opinion emanating from New York is of any consequence, that expressed by the Herald should have some weight. Editorially it says: "The returns for the past week show a continuance of the very heavy shipments of grain and cattle and manufactured goods to Europe, proving that the stir in business at home is wholly healthy and a true test of the return of prosperity. With the confidence in the future of our currency which is sending down the premium on gold, until yesterday it stood no higher than a quarter of one per cent. above greenbacks, being the lowest quotation in seventeen years, is coming the unlocking of capital which has been lying useless in bank vaults. The people are astir. New enterprises are on foot. Real estate, so long depressed, is again looking up, and on every side we hear words of well founded hope."

With any sort of private economy, with a careful management of business enterprises, and by keeping out of debt so far as it is possible, we may soon expect to reach the time when our industries will be revived and placed on a paying basis; when work will be abundant, and honest labor can find remunerative employment; when farmers will reap a profitable harvest; and when merchants and business men will be inspired by the productiveness of trade.

Among the many important bills introduced in the present Congress, is that of Mr. McCook, of New York City, for the relief of Private Hines, of Company F, 18th U. S. Infantry. We have just received a copy of that bill for which we thank our friend Williams. The subject is one which should gain the attention of the United States Congress. Private Hines lost his breeches and a blanket by fire at Aiken, South Carolina, in 1876, the money value of which is placed at $5.05. He now petitions Congress to grant him relief by paying the bill. What is the tariff bill or the

THE CONFESSION.

The public is gleaning to-day over the news from New York that Mrs. Tilton has made a new confession of guilt, which explicitly criminalizes Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. The event creates a wide-spread sensation, and those who have no faith in humanity are devouring the stuff with a surprising relish and greed. That the Plymouth Vespers is again having a fresh eruption, is not a wonder. For some months past, the trouble has been brewing. The friends of Tilton have been doing their work to revive the scandal, and have succeeded. As yet we can place no faith in the confession of Mrs. Tilton. She is a foolish, weak-minded woman with no will which she can control. She is in the hands of others and they use her as they see fit. We do not say that her confession is not true, because we have no authority to warrant that position. It may be true and it may not. Knowing the mental power of the lady, her previous statements and actions in regard to the scandal, we have no faith that what she says at this time is a statement of facts. We have never yet believed in the guilt of Henry Ward Beecher, and have not lost confidence in his fidelity. All that class who would rather see a man or woman kicked down than raised up, who have no faith in woman's chastity or man's virtue, believe the parties guilty. There is a disposition which is too prevalent, to gloat over scandals and to prejudge a person guilty simply because it is sensational. Whenever such proof is furnished as will satisfy an unprejudiced mind, that the relations of Henry Ward Beecher and Elizabeth R. Tilton, were criminal, no one will be more ready to condemn the hypocrisy and infidelity of Mr. Beecher than we. Until then we shall indulge in the cherished hope that he is "innocent of the great transgression."

We hope the Democratic smelting committee in Congress will keep on looking for Republican irregularities. They are doing much good service. They haven't found any Republican corruption yet, but have put their nose into some bad Democratic odor. They expected to unearth something which would implicate Republicans, and instead have put their foot in it badly. Grever, the leading Democratic mouser, has found that "at least $10,000 of the $32,000 which was expended during the trip of Morrison's investigating committee to Louisiana, during the Presidential contest, went into pockets not entitled to it. The money was expended by Major S. K. Donovan, of Ohio, who was then Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms, and Colonel Polk, his assistant, who was afterwards Doorkeeper of the House. Donovan had full charge in the distribution of the $32,000 placed in his hands by John Thompson, the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House. The affair creates much excitement among the Democrats, and the proof as to the irregularity is said to be overwhelming. Mr. Glover is the authority for the statement that at least $10,000 was not expended, but in a crooked manner went into the pockets of certain Democrats."

The Chicago Times has another blow at the Democracy—this time at the Democrats of Illinois, who recently assembled in a Convention at Springfield, and demanded that the Resumption act be repealed. The Times breaks out in this strain: "The Illinois Democrats are Bourbon nincompoops, and the Convention a myth, a mere name applied to a miscellaneous assortment of unprincipled political tramps that come together whenever an election is approaching, and unite their inharmonious gangs in an attempt to break into the public crib." The Democrats ought to understand themselves pretty well by this time, especially if they read Democratic literature from a Democratic newspaper—the Chicago Times.

Jim Knight, proprietor of the Darlington (Wis.) Democrat, has been appointed assistant doorkeeper of the House of Representatives. It will be remembered that Knight was superintendent of public property under that lamentable failure, W. R. Taylor. Knight has now received his reward. During the war he was a notorious rebel at heart, and no man in Wisconsin said wickered things of the Union soldiers than this man Knight. He is just the man for Confederate Fields, for no man favored secession more deeply than James G. Knight.

Chace the Fall River defaulter, pleaded not guilty on Monday. His bail was fixed at $200,000, in default of which he was committed to jail. The investigation shows that his funds reach considerably over half a million. It is very likely that Mr. Chace, who once filled so high a position in business, social and religious circles of Fall River, will spend the remainder of his days in prison.

To-day the Chicago Tribune publishes a list of the Southern claims now before Congress. The grand total of Southern claims is 202 million dollars; and the approximate grand total on the basis of Judge Bartley's estimate for private claims, reaches 300 millions.

The news from Europe continues to be six of one and half dozen of the other. There seems to be a strife between England and Russia as to which can play the most conspicuous part in the farce.

Frank Moulton will now quit his daily lecturing and will betake himself to Brooklyn. He has a better thing.

BROOKLYN INIQUITY.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The following letter from Mrs. Tilton will appear in the morning papers to-morrow:

MY DEAR SIR:—A few weeks since, after long months of mental anguish, I told you, as you know, a few friends whom I had bitterly deceived, that the charge brought by my husband of adultery between myself and the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher was true, and that the lie I had lived so well the last four years had become intolerable to me. That statement I now solemnly reaffirm, and leave the truth with God, to whom I also commit myself, my children, and all who must suffer. I know full well the explanations that will be sought by many for this acknowledgment—a desire to return to my husband, insanity, malice, everything save the true and only one, my quickened conscience and sense of what is due to the cause of truth and justice. During all the complications of these years you have been my confidential friend, and therefore I address this letter to you, authorizing and requesting you to secure its publication.

ELIZABETH R. TILTON.

Brooklyn, April 13, 1878.

Frank B. Carpenter, the artist, in an interview this evening stated that there was no doubt about the genuineness of the letter. Mr. Ira B. Wheeler, he said, had been the private legal adviser and confidential friend of Mrs. Tilton all through the trouble.

Lawyers Shearman, Morris, and Price refused to be interviewed.

Mr. Beecher was out of the city tonight when Mrs. Tilton's letter was made public, and his whereabouts was not known save to a few friends. The New York Tribune telegraphed him a copy of the letter at a late hour to-night, and received the following dispatch in reply from Mr. Beecher:

"WASHINGTON, N. Y., April 15, 1878. 'To the Editor of the New York Tribune: 'I confront Mrs. Tilton's confession with explicit and absolute denial. The testimony to her own innocence and to mine, which for four years she had made to hundreds, in private and public, before the court, in writing orally, I declare to be true, and the allegations now made contradictory of her uniform solemn and unvarying statements hitherto made utterly deny. I declare her to be innocent of the great transgression. HENRY WARD BEECHER.'"

The Tribune says: "Mr. Wheeler called at the Tribune office yesterday afternoon with the original of the above document, and submitted it for publication. There was no question of the genuine character of the document (no matter under what circumstances it had been obtained and promulgated), and at Mr. Wheeler's suggestion and wish it was put in type. A Tribune reporter subsequently had an interview with Mr. Wheeler, but he was very reticent. He stated that he was a distant relative of Mrs. Tilton. He said he was very reluctant to be known in any connection with the matter, and that, in fact, his only connection was in submission of the document for publication. Mrs. Tilton had at once authorized and requested him to see that it was published. He added that he did not feel at liberty to state any of the circumstances which had led to the confession."

THE EAST.

Prospect of a Peaceful Settlement of the Great Question Between England and Russia.

LONDON, April 16.—A St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs: "There is said to have been an amicable semi-official interchange of views between the London and St. Petersburg Cabinets. The former declares a sincere desire for a peaceful solution, and disclaims a wish to put unnecessary obstacles in the way of negotiations, but adheres to the desire to have the whole treaty placed before the congress. The latter also adheres to its previous attitude, and cites Prince Gortschakoff's reply to Lord Salisbury as proof of a readiness to discuss even the most important clauses."

In unofficial conversation, the Russians still cling to the idea that England seeks to humiliate them and tear up the treaty. They will not allow the treaty to be canceled, although they are ready to make modifications.

TORNADO.

Terrible Devastation by a Tornado at Cottonwood Station, Kansas—The Loss of Life and Property.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 15.—A tornado struck Cottonwood Station, on the A. T. and S. F. Railroad, at about 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, April 13. The Cottonwood Hotel and several other buildings were blown down. Mrs. Miller was killed, and her husband and four children dangerously hurt; Mrs. Watt and two children; Fred Smith, wife and three children; John Merritt, Lizzie Merritt and Mrs. Matthews were badly hurt. At Jacobs

Creek, Mrs. Boge had her leg broken. At Phenix Creek, Edward Davis' youngest child was dangerously hurt. Mrs. Osborn, living on the prairie had two children killed. Mrs. Kate Ross, living on Dry Creek, was seriously, perhaps fatally injured. The storm reached Emporia about 4:30 o'clock. Soda's Mills were badly damaged, and the roof of the Normal School building injured, but little damage was done in the center of the city. In the country the destruction of property was great. Houses and barns were torn to fragments, and trees were blown up. Ten loaded cars were blown from the track at Cottonwood Station.

COUNTERFEITER.

A Man Arrested in Ashland for Dealing in Counterfeit Money.

MADISON, April 15.—A curious case of an attempt to procure counterfeit money came to light in this city this afternoon. It seems that a party signing himself S. Osander wrote from Ashland, Wisconsin, to one Elmer, of St. Paul, stating that he would give him $100 for $1000 worth of counterfeit money. He understood that he (Finley) had a large amount in his possession. Owling to the fact that the address was clumsily written Finley got the letter. Finley immediately replied. He did not deal in counterfeit money and advised Osander to drop the matter or trouble would follow. Osander thinking the letter was a blind and that Finley mistrusted him wrote again to Finley, telling him he needn't be afraid as he understood himself and telling him to send along the money. Finley getting disgusted determined not to shield the rascal further placed the matter in a detective's hands at St. Paul, who quickly worked up the case, writing Osander in Finley's name, asking what denomination of bills he wanted. The reply came back for ones, twos and fives. They finally arrested him at Ashland and found some $50 of the queer upon him. He was brought here this morning and was up before the United States Court, Commissioner Bradley, for examination, but the case was put over until to-morrow.

BLAIR'S RESOLUTIONS.

Their Introduction in the House—Debate on Their Reform.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—David Dudley Field's bill to provide a way to get Hayes out of the White House, and Grumby Blair's resolution from the Maryland Legislature, were introduced in the House to-day during the usual call for the presentation of bills and resolutions. If these two documents had been left to take the usual course, they probably would never have been heard of again after being referred to committee, but O'Neill, Gardiner, Conger, and other Republicans insisted upon giving them notoriety, and demanded a vote by ayes and noes upon the question of reference. A general debate then arose upon the general question of the right of a State to send such documents to Congress, upon which Alexander H. Stephens made one of his sensible speeches, in which he held that a person or a State could send anything it chose to Congress, but that Congress had the power to refuse or receive it if so desired. The debate exhausted the morning hour, and Blair's resolutions are now resting on the Speaker's table till next Monday.

NOMINATION.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The President has nominated Sanford S. Blodgett to be United States Consul at Prescott; Llewellyn Davis, of Missouri, Receiver of Public Money at Trenton, Mo.; Gustav Schneider, of Iowa United States Marshal Territory of Montana; and Promotions: Major James W. Forsyth Tenth Cavalry, to be Lieutenant Colonel T. L. Elliott. First Cavalry, to be Colonel of the Third Cavalry.

MILTON JUNCTION TEMPLE.

—The ladies of the place gave us one of the finest entertainments of the season, Thursday evening, April 11, for the benefit of the Temple of Honor. Commencing the evening by a quartette, "Ho for the Spring Time" by the mesdames G. H. and C. Button, and Messrs Tipton and Larkin, the audience were kept about an hour listening to a very fine programme consisting of music, recitations, tableaux and dialogues. Where all did so well 'tis useless to particularize. At the close all were invited to partake of a bountiful repast in the room below. All did well in this part and went home feeling that "Tis good that I was there. The Temple of Honor may feel proud that they have the sympathy and cooperation of the good ladies of the place, and may go to work with renewed vigor in their glorious undertaking of temperance. May the Temple and their lady friends live long and have many more such enjoyable times."

Nature Demands a Tonic.

When the nerves are unstrung, the head aches, the appetite is poor or variable, the sleep disturbed, and a general depletion of vital power is experienced. Such a state of things cannot long exist without the development of serious disease. The most active and genial invigorant known is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The absolute purity of its ingredients and botanical ingredients gives it a permanent claim to public confidence and its surpassing medicinal value is attested by medical men of distinction, by whom it is widely used in private practice. For fever and ague—both as a preventive and remedy—dyspepsia, liver complaint, bilious remittent fever, constipation, choleric complaints, flatulence, and all intestinal disorders, it is a thoroughly reliable remedy. It is the antifebrile specific par excellence of the malarial districts of this and other countries, where disease born of miasma prevails, and as a general household remedy it is also universally esteemed. april16dewly

How Republican Rule Pays.

The Philadelphia Press of the 3d instant says: "When Governor Bigler retired from the gubernatorial chair—the last of an unbroken line of Democratic governors reaching in 1823, the administration of William F. Johnson only excepted—he left to the State a debt of $41,000,000. Before the time of Governor Pollock, Pennsylvania had elected but two governors who were not Democrats—Governors Johnson, first mentioned, and, in 1830, Governor Heister, a Federalist. We may safely charge our burden of State debt to Democratic administration. Since the advent of Whig and Republican administrations (the debt has been steadily on the decrease, so that now, after having borne the terrible strain of war, it has been brought down to within $25,000,000. Our extraordinary war expenses alone amounted to $50,000,000, and these have been taken into account. In the face of all this, the personal taxes have been reduced and the tax on real estate removed entirely. The farmer and small owner now pays not one cent land tax in Pennsylvania. This is one plank in our coming campaign, and the longest purely State issue ever presented to the people. The Curtis, Geary and Hartranft, this line of Republican Governors have done this, and the safe course is to continue in the succession."

New Postage Stamp Swindle.

Washington Special to New York Tribune. Mr. Kirby, the Little Rock sewing machine agent, whose trade in postage stamps purchased from postmasters at offices doing a small business was reported a year ago, has devised a new plan for swindling the government out of its revenues. In order to prevent an illegitimate trade in stamps of various denominations, the post office department made a rule that no requisitions for such envelopes would be filled unless they came from the postmaster at the place to which the letters for which they were used were to be returned. It has now been discovered that Mr. Kirby has set up an establishment in Little Rock in which he erases the name of the town printed on the end of the envelopes and substitutes the name of any other town which he may think proper. Postmasters at several offices have ordered large quantities of return envelopes, which under the rules of the department they obtain at a discount, and sold them to Mr. Kirby sometimes for cash and sometimes for sewing machines, or other articles. He destroyed the printed name of the town originally printed on the envelopes, and substitutes any other which his customer may desire. Mr. Kirby, it is said, has boasted that he made a profit of $30,000 in this business and in the traffic in postage stamps.

Changing Color.

Calro (Illinois) Dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial.

There is in our city now a colored man who for fifteen years past has been steadily turning white. He says that, before the war he was the slave of Mr. Winston, now living near Union City, Tennessee, and that any one doubting that he is a negro can have those doubts set at rest by writing to his old master. He has farmed near Columbus, Ky., for seven years past, and his children, all black, have grown up and are married. He says that, the change in the color of his skin began fifteen years ago in a spot the size of a three-cent piece, on his right wrist, and has been spreading until now the only black left upon his person are a few spots on his hands, and a mark, as it were, on his face, extending from his forehead to his mouth, with the exception of his eyebrows, which are white. The hair on them being black and straight like a white man's. The skin of the head, neck and body is a healthy flesh color, like that of any white man, and is tender and easily blighted by the sun, and his hair is getting straight like the hair of a white man. He has been painted with iodine, but his eyes are the unmistakable color of a negro's. His name is Henry Windson. He says that soon after the change began he was examined by twelve physicians in New Orleans, and they told him not to be alarmed, it was a healthy change, and would not injure his life. He had feared it was the leprosy.

The Difficulty of Selling Bourbon Under a Temperance Umbrella.

A commercial traveler, representing a prominent liquor house in New York, has been stopping at the Temperance Hotel in First Fayette street, one of the very few first-class temperance houses in the country. The other morning Mr. — presented himself at the desk with his little case of samples, ready to interview customers around town, but it was raining hard and he didn't want to get wet.

Mr. — Clerk Prowall, lend me an umbrella.

Mr. — "Certainly, sir, here's an umbrella that belongs to the house."

Mr. — asked it and went away happy. He had been gone about half a minute when he returned.

Mr. — "I can't carry such an umbrella as that among my customers!"

Brownell— "What's the matter with that umbrella? It's whole, it's clean, and it's new, and it sheds water. What more do you want?"

Mr. — "That's all right, but this umbrella has too many good points for me. Look at that!" (pointing to a vermilion seal emblazoned on the outside in large letters, Temperance Hotel). "I can't sell old Bourbon whisky under such a banner as that—it wouldn't sell a drop in a day!"

And he returned the umbrella and made his visit in the rain.—Syracuse (N. Y.) Standard.

Death, Life, and Death Again.

New York Sun.

The 12-year-old daughter of J. B. Doremus, of Willis street, Patterson, died on Tuesday of the week, as was supposed. The body was prepared and laid out in the coffin, and all the arrangements were completed for the funeral on Friday afternoon. The father sat alone in his house on Friday evening. The preparation were all ready, the doctor's certificate filed, and the coffin set upon the benches in the living room. The door suddenly opened, and in he shrouded and grave clothes the girl he had supposed to be dead tottered toward him, threw her arms around his neck, kissed him passionately, and then fell back unconscious in his arms. A physician was called with all haste, but this time she was dead.

This business is carried on by several nationalities, the business men being of energy and capacity. The general population are indolent and ignorant, and twelfth of the inhabitants of the island are blacks.

In looking over the schools I find them very good, and conducted much like our own. They have a superintendent for each department for girls and boys, and assistant masters, and 49 teachers in the primary schools on the island. Number of schools, 57; total number of scholars, 7,447; average attendance, 3,402; number of pupils on the rolls, girls, 1,170, boys, 3,826, total, 5,996.

The schools for colored children are as follows: Number on roll, total 333; co-ches 229, creoles, 106. Average daily attendance, co-ches 163; creoles 69, total, 232. The ecclesiastical societies are well represented on the island, the greater number being in the port of Spain, the largest membership of which are Catholics and Episcopalians. We find also the Presbyterians, called the United Presbyterian Church of Scotland, the Wesleyan Methodist, the Young Men's Christian Association, the Belmont Christian Orphanage, and the Good Hope Home.

The different societies are represented in the Port of Spain. There are five Masonic lodges, one scientific association, one general improvement club, and one savings bank.

The medical profession is well represented by 29 M. D.s on the island, 19 of whom are in the Port of Spain; also, 35 licensed druggists.

The legal profession is also represented by 14, notaries public, 4 solicitors. The population of this island is about 120,000. The value of imports from the island, last year, was $1,324,433; value of exports, $1,733,615. But I must not, unfortunately, the same condition of oil, etc., which makes Trinidad a very productive country, makes the construction of roads, which are essential to the prosperity and advancement of any country, very difficult and expensive. The peculiar condition of the Colonial community allow of little interest being manifested in the well-being of the island, beyond the immediate concerns of the moment. The connection of these and other evils can hardly be expected, unless there should arise a spirit of enlightened public feeling which at the present time does not exhibit itself to me.

Having spoken more of the island of Trinidad in general than of any one place, I will now refer particularly to the Port of Spain, which is where we landed, and our headquarters. When I say we and ours, you of course understand me to mean Judge Conger, for we are inseparable and each of our thought and purg, o to make our journey pleasant and profitable to each other. "I will souls with out a single thought," etc.

The Port of Spain is the chief town of the island and contains 18,380 inhabitants, 8,544 males and 10,386 females. It is situated on a gently inclined plain, near the northeast angle of the Gulf of Paria. The visitors to the island will probably arrive at the Port of Spain, it being the principal port, the seat of Government, and the residence of the leading merchants. Here are the cathedrals of the Anglican and Roman Catholic churches, the former situated on the South side of Brunswick Square, the latter at the eastern end of a wide promenade called Marine Square. On the North side of Brunswick Square is the club house, on the eastern side Grayfriars (Presbyterian church). The centre of the square is adorned by a beautiful fountain.

On the West side of Brunswick Square is the Government House. This building contains the offices of the Governor, Colonial Secretary, Attorney General, Audit Crown Lands, and Public Works Department. Also the Council Rooms where the sittings of the Legislative Council takes place, and City Council hold forth. While I looked around to see if I could not find Bales, Church, Blount, and Robinson, I discovered, to my surprise, some street grading, or McKinney, Hutchison and Lawrence, on the pound question, or His Honor, the Mayor, B. O. M., Wilcox and Lawrence disputing the legitimacy of paying for honest labor on the engine house, or Davies moving to have penally imposed on a poor black householder for expounding her cow, refunded, or the indomitable Fitzgibbon and Hemming pouring out their eloquence in favor of a two inch nozzle in the new fire hose, but I failed to see their faces and echo answered, non est Carpenter was there.

In this room there is the statue of Lord Harris by Deane, a collection of birds, reptiles and shells. The court house forms part of the same range of buildings. In the upper story are the halls of justice, the practice court and the judges' room, on the lower floor are the offices of the register general, the solicitor general, and the offices of the court. The judge himself intended to spend a day or two here when the court is in session. Passing to the south door of the court house we are facing the town hall, the principal room of which lodges portraits in oil of several of the Governors of Trinidad. Prince Carrington sits west from the center of Brunswick Square between the government and the court house. Here are police barracks and court, also the public library containing 10,000 volumes. The hospital, the Princes' building, and laboratory are situated near the savanna to the north of the town. A little beyond the town and near the entrance of the valley of St. Ann is the Botanical Garden, which besides well kept lawns and flower beds contains a fine series of trees and shrubs, and nursery of duplicate flowers and plants the most beautiful collection that could be imagined. Here is the Queen's house, as the Governor's house has been named. There is a small botanical museum near the entrance of the garden, where the police band plays every Wednesday evening. The drive from town leads past the Queen's park. The pleasant valley of St. Ann and Maraval is worthy of a visit. I can tell the road to the latter will take the traveler over the valley into the Santa Rosa valley and through very fine cacao plantations. Among other objects of interest is the Blue Basin, also Maracas waterfalls 340 feet high and mud volcanoes at Monkey Town may be visited.

The Pich Lake of Labra is another point of attraction which we shall also visit, and of which I can say more, after seeing it. It is described as a great wonder.

Since writing the above, we have visited most, or many, of the within-named places, of which I will try to give you a more extended description than I now can do, and want of time; at our vessel will sail tomorrow, and I want to send letters, with this, home. Most of the within I have compiled from statistics of the place, and are correct.

Hoping this will find you well, with kind regards to all, I am yours truly,
S. S. JUMP.

The Use of the Lemon.
A piece of lemon bound upon a corn will relieve it in a day or so. It should be renewed night and morning. The free use of lemon juice and sugar will always relieve a cough. A lemon eaten before breakfast every morning for a week, or until entirely prevent that feeling of lassitude peculiar to the approach of spring. Perhaps its most valuable property is its absolute power of detecting any of the injurious and even dangerous ingredients entering into the composition of so many of the cosmetics and face powders in the market. Every lady should subject her toilet powder to this test. Place a teaspoon of the suspected powder in a glass and add the juice of a lemon. If effervescence takes place, it is an infallible proof that the powder is dangerous, and its use should be avoided, as it will ultimately injure the skin and destroy the beauty of the complexion.

BRIEFINGS.

A new council.
The street gang get in a scrape on the pavement every day now.
The new city officers step into their predecessors' shoes to-day.

Cold water is a befitting drink for the Holy Week, for it is a wholly weak beverage.
Holy Week among the Episcopalians, and the services as announced will be duly observed.

Ring out the old and ring in the new city officers, but, don't let them get up a ring of their own.

Some of the pastors are taking a rest from their fishing for men and have become fishers for fish.

There were 132 who signed the pledge and donated the ribbon at the Congregational church last evening.

The awnings begin to come forth from their winter quarters and shake themselves for the summer campaign.

The Musical Club holds its meeting to-night, to follow the programme already announced. It will begin at 8 o'clock sharp.

Dr. McCollister says he doesn't believe men can be punished into wearing the ribbon, and yet he proceeds coolly to club them into it.

Anything for an excuse to stay down town. There is too much bureau litting and stove-pipe cleaning to make home really attractive.

Another interesting letter from Dr. Judd, written from Trinidad, will be found elsewhere in this issue. It is meaty with facts and freaky with fancy, and will repay a perusal.

Miss Lachapelle, the pedestrian is in worse trouble than ever. Her walking stick is now in danger of being worn by the limbs of the law who are trying to get possession of it.

"Greasy Bill," on being locked up in jail last night, was searched, and there was found on his person a cast-iron "billy" with a leather handle, which would make an ugly hole in a fellow's head.

As he sits shivering in his room and calling himself bad names, because he took down his coat, the mutability of the Divine government as far as the weather is concerned seems most striking.

A tramp claiming to hail from Indiana was last night detected stealing clothes off from a line hanging in the yard of a Fourth ward family named Welch. He was promptly collared and locked up.

The pastors of all the churches in the city are requested to meet with the Executive Committee of the Red Ribbon movement at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock sharp for a consultation.

George Reum the butcher, is charged with having been on a drunk for two weeks or more during which time he has abused his family and caused a general unpleasantness. He has been arrested, but the case has been postponed for two weeks.

The Temples of Honor have petitioned the Supreme Council of North America to organize a Grand Council for the State of Wisconsin. The Supreme Council will meet in Janesville next August, and delegates will be present from all parts of the country.

Mrs. Marietta denies that Ed. Burns was one of those who she suspected of having robbed her, as mentioned in yesterday's Gazette. "Greasy Bill" was arrested last night and will have a hearing sometime to-morrow probably. His alleged comrade is said to have skipped the town.

The Round Table to-morrow night, has for its subject of discussion, "The National Characteristics of Literature," the following being the programme: Development of National Characteristics, J. C. Metcalf; Characteristics of Scotch and Irish Literature, Rev. J. W. Sanderson; French Literature, Rev. T. P. Sawin; Italian Literature, J. S. Van Cleave.

Justice Prichard has fitted up a police court over the postoffice. It is probably the most commodious and convenient of any yet established in this city. With an elevated platform for justice to perch on, tables and chairs for attorneys, a rail to keep the unwashed and untutored plebeians at a proper distance, the room presents quite a metropolitan appearance. Bring in your crooked ones. All's ready.

The price of the season tickets for the League games to be played in Milwaukee this season is only $15. They are good for forty admissions, including three reserved seats each game. The sale of this class of tickets is limited, so if any desire to club together in the purchase of some, which is the most economical method, they should do so at once. The tickets are transferable, and can be used up at one game if the owners so desire. Further particulars can be gained of the Secretary of the Milwaukee club.

The red ribbon meeting last night at the Congregational church was well attended. Dr. McCollister spoke for over an hour and at the close of the service tied a large number of ribbons on the buttons of those taking the pledge. The doctor predicted that before he left Janesville there would be fewer saloons, some of the worst drinkers would be wearing more red on their coats and less on their noses. He also prophesied that the opponents of the work would be so enraged that they would tie red ribbons on the tails of the dogs and pigs, in derision. He evidently expects a red hot time.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 39 degrees above zero and at 2 o'clock at 60 degrees above. A drizzling rain. One year ago to-day at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 54 and 64 degrees above.

The indications are stationary or falling barometer, northeast to southeast wind, cooler, cloudy weather, and occasional rains.

MUSICAL EVENING.

The piano pupils of Mr. John C. Fillmore, and the vocal pupils of Mrs. J. W. St. John will give a free entertainment in the parlors of All Souls church, on Tuesday evening, April 23d. The programme will be published in a few days. All are invited who are interested.

UNDER THE WHEELS.

A Fatal Accident of Which a Janesville Young Man was the Victim—A Speedy Ending of a Promising Life.

Last evening John Brown, a young man who has always resided in this city, and who is a stepson of the well known railroad Mr. Thomas Nightingale, met with a sudden and horrible death near Harvard. Young Brown has been a brakeman for several years, and last night while in the pursuit of his business was on top of the cars of the Rockford accommodation train near Harvard, when by some misstep he fell between the cars and under the wheels. The accident was not discovered until the train had proceeded some little distance. A stop was made, and train run back, and the body of the young man was found with both legs cut off above the knees. Death of course immediately ensued. The remains were at once brought to this city. Young Brown was an industrious man, and had many friends here, having resided in this city from his boyhood. The accident will call forth the sympathy of many who knew his victim. No blame seems to be attached to anyone.

ROLL OF HONOR.
